

Sssh... Do You Think She's Had Infini?

One of my all-time favorite holidays is Thanksgiving! There's nothing like having the entire family over to enjoy turkey, cranberry sauce and all the fixings.

On the other hand, one thing that I don't love about Thanksgiving are those "discussions" that can sometimes transpire between family members. Inevitably, someone is going to bring up politics, or religion, or another topic that will start an epic battle across the table. The delicious food won't be enough to distract them; nothing seems to fuel a loud argument between "Uncle Frank" and "Cousin George" like a turkey.

How can you break up these uncomfortable discussions? We suggest giving them something else to talk about!

Imagine your family's quiet shock when they come over and see just how youthful you look. Imagine the quiet speculation that could take place between family members while you're in the kitchen. "Do you think she's had some work done? She looks incredible! What do you think she did?"

For many people, the answer to those holiday-time speculations has been INFINI.

As you age, your skin picks up a variety of unwanted imperfections along the way. There may be acne scars from those teenage years, accumulative sun damage from too much time spent at the beach throughout your 20s, and the simple signs of aging that start to appear later in your 30s, like wrinkles and sagging skin.

When our patients ask us what they can do about the resulting imperfections, our answer is often INFINI. It's an incredibly versatile and effective treatment that's safe for all skin types.

Using a mixture of microneedling and radiofrequency (RF) energy, your skin will literally be tightened from within. We use a special applicator to bypass the top layer of your skin, and then we use the RF energy and needling to stimulate your body's natural healing process to promote new collagen growth. The applicator is incredibly precise, able to pierce the skin at multiple levels.

Our INFINI providers are highly trained and experienced, so you know that you're in the best hands. The treatment is minimally invasive; most of our patients compare their recovery to getting over a sunburn. After a quick 30- to 45-minute treatment, your skin will be well on its way to a more youthful, fuller appearance.

It can take several weeks for the full benefits of INFINI to become apparent, but when they do, you'll see old scars start to fade, wrinkles vanish and sagging skin begin to tighten!

For more harmonious results, INFINI is best used with a number of other procedures like dermal fillers and BOTOX. By itself, INFINI can still provide stunning results that will take years off your appearance and empower you with newfound confidence.

So when the entire family is gathering for turkey, mashed potatoes and stuffing, give them something to talk about! Let them wonder, “Wow, she looks great! I wonder how she did it?” And if “Uncle Frank” starts to pick a fight, you can drop the bomb: “I recently got an INFINI treatment at Azul Cosmetic Surgery & Medical Spa! What does everyone think?”

If you would like more information about INFINI, or any of our other procedures, we have lots of information on our website at www.azulbeauty.com – or give us a call at (239) 415-7576. We also invite you to come into the medical spa for a free consultation and receive a personalized recommendation about how to achieve the harmonious result you’re looking for.
